Area voters will have several important decisions to make when they go to the polls Tuesday, including choosing their representatives in Congress and state legislature, officials in countywide offices and answering several referendum question. Bistrict, perhaps the most important question of all to answer in this: Should the school district important question of all to answer in this: Should the school district in the control of assessed valuation. A no vote would end the tax.

Other ballot issues include a countywide question on whether Madison County should adopt a county executive form of government. Currently, the county board chairman is elected by county mand members. None of the county board members in the Press-Record Journal circulation area have opposition. Similarly, Regional Superintendent of Schools Harry Briggs is unopposed in his bid for re-election.

County Clerk, treasurer and sheriff are the three contested county-wide races to be decided Tuesday.

In the clerk's race, incumbent Democrat Debbie Saltich of Granite City, who was appointed to the post earlier this year when longtime clerk Evelyn Bowles was named to a state senate vacancy, is challenged by Republican Bob Ramsey of Troy.

Incumbent Treasurer John Shimkus, a Republican, is being challenged by Mick Henkhaus, the Democrat Shimkus defeated four years ago to take office.

Incumbent Sheriff Bob Churchich, a Democrat, is being challenged by Republican Jack Vahle.

In the 56th Senate District (which includes legislative districts 111 and 112), Republican Dave Tanzyus of Collinsville is running against incumbent Democrat Bowles, who filled the struming against incumbent Democrat Bowles, who filled the special of Sam Vadalabene earther this period of the source of for almost 20 years as county clerk before taking the vacant sea.

In District 111, Republican Ted Prehn and Democrat Sieve Davis are vying for the state representative seat currently held by House Majority Leader Jim Mc Pike, who is retiring. Davis and Prehn both reside in Bethalto.

County voters may buck trend

Election Officials are forecasting an average voter turnout state-wide for Tuesday's election. But Madison County may be a differ-ent story.

Sound of Elections Director Ronald Michaelson predicts between 54 percent and 57 percent of registered voters will take part. He said that range is about the same as the 1990 and 1986 gubernatorial election but far below the 65 percent of the 1990 and 1986 "Eyen with registrations up and the same as the 1990 and 1986 "Eyen with registrations up are receiving from election at the same that absentee voting is average or below, and that voter interest is, unfortunately, less than enthusiastic at this time," he said.

interest is, unfortunately, see that chiefly the said.

Madison County appears to be bucking that trend, however, and turnout could be on the high end of Michaelson's forecast, County. Clerk Debbie Sattch said.

We had 2,009 absence hallots cast in 1990, and this year, as of Nov. 1, we were at 2,063 and have had several more in the office since then," sile said.

Referendum thrown out

While Granite City voters overwhelmingly approved a ref-erendum earlier this year to reduce the size of the City Coun-cil by one half, a Madison Coun-try judge threw out that referen-dum last week.

ty judge threw out that referentum last week.

Associate Judge David Herndon ruled Priday that a proposition on the ballot last March wasvague and uncertain.

On March 20, Granite City residents voted by a 2 to 1 margin to reduce the number of anderment of the statute, all aldermanic terms were to expire next year and a full complement of seven to be elected in April 1995.

But attorney John Papa, on behalf of two Granite City residents, filed suit earlier this year challenging the referendum. The lawsuit claimed in part the be deprived of serving their full terms.

The seven aldermen whose terms would have expired pre-maturely are: Casmer Skubish, Craig Tarpoff, Nick Petrillo, Foster Frederick, Eddie Asador-ian, Mac Warfield, and Kim Affolter. City attorney Lee Konzen cited previous Illinois elections and previous torney general opin-ons as precedent in support of the aldermanic reduction.

But Herndon on Friday ruled the proposition invalid because he said the referendum question

Konzen said the ruling had the effect of declaring the referenderantic City will continue to valid referended and that the same to valid referendum can be approved.

Asked if the city would appeal Herndon's decision, Konzen said the decision would be left to the aldermen.

25th annual Christmas Bazaar — St. Elizabeth's Ladies Sodality will hold its annual Christmas Bazaar on Nov. 12 from, 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. at St. Elizabeth's Parish, located at Johnson and Pontoon Road. Displaying some of the sale items are, from left, Pat Lottus, Sharon Lottus, Debbie Ryan, Martha Kozuszrk, Pat Weathers and Marilyn Hahn. THE VOICE BOX:

Do you support the referendum to renovate the Granite City High School? Transportation study needed Madison County is about to begin a two-year $500,000 project to prepare a 20-year study that will project our transportation needs and strategies for the next two decades. Highway Department officials predict that the emphasis will be on mass transportation needs as planners try to satisfy the demands of federal clean air regulations. More efficient bus

There's little doubt that such a study is needed. The last time county officials thought out transportation needs 20 years ahead was 1964. Their projections and presumably, their plans, ran out 10 years ago.

Over the last decade, transpor-ation planning has largely been hodgepodge of brainstorms, bllowed by feverish lobbying.

In recent years, the transpor-tation picture has become even more complex as Madison Coun-man and the second second second St. Louis have become increas-ingly attractive residential pros-pects for metropolitan area resi-dents looking for homes closer to the city than the western sub-urbs can now offer.

The new study is jointly fund-ed by the county Highway Department and Transit District, and will be carried out by offi-cials from those agencies and a committee appointed by the County Board chairman.

oes your dog reside outdoors most of the time? Many do. Is it okay or isn't it? According to most who have been acclimated to living outdoors can be kept out during the winter as long as they aren't subjected to below-zero temperatures, are well fed, and have adequate water and shelter.

Here are some tips on keeping your dog healthy during the upcoming winter season.

Make sure they have fresh, clean water at all times. Of course, you'll have to check the bowl much more often as it gets colder.

A good shelter is very important to protect the animal from winter's harsh elements. It should be waterproof and windproof. If possible, locate the shelter so it isn't facing prevailing winter winds. Provide a good bottom and bedding, so the dog won't be forced to sleep on icy concrete.

Even if your pet is on the pudgy side, winter's not the time to think of putting him on a diet. The extra fat will help the animal keep warm. We're not saying you should permit the pooch to gorge, however, just make sure he is adequately fed.

When the thermometer When the thermometer plunges down near the zero range, pets should be brought indoors! If they're left out, frostbite, hypothermia and several other life-threatening conditions can occur. Although dogs and cats can take the cold much better than us, there is limit. And below zero temperatures are too cold.

If your dog is kept on a chain, check it often to make sure it isn't kinked or wound around anything. Outdoor pets must be kept active, and a kinked or caught chain can severely restrict their movement

As for cats, there is one major problem we've mentioned before. The warm engine compartment of a car is one of their favorite places. While they're probably more apt to do it in winter, it can happen during any control of the car in which is the car in which is the car is the car in which is th happen during any season. The following is a true story.

Recently a feline from Recently a feline from somewhere in central Michigan decided the engine compartment of a car was a nice, warm spot. Unfortunately, the vehicle the cat selected belonged to a lady who was visiting from suburban Detroit, a distance of some 150 miles. The lady drove home, completely unaware of her passenger. The strange noise she heard while unloading the car led to the discovery of the terrified cat. A thorough examination by a local veterinarian revealed a few veterinarian revealed a few minor burns, but other than that, the animal was no worse for wear after its 3-hour odyssey. Shaken kitty and surprised owner were eventually reunited.

While this incident ended without tragedy, it was a rare exception. Climbing into the engine compartment of a vehicle has been a fatal move for many cats.

It's best to keep the cat indoors as much as you can during winter, but many people will give in to the cat's objections. So if kitty's outside and nowhere to be seen, take a few seconds and check under the hood before starting the car.

N.R.A. ENDORSES TED

Earlier this month, the National Rifle Association gave Ted their highest rating of "A" on his responses in the group's questionnaire distributed to political office seekers. The letter said, "Your commitment for the Second A mendment inhibit for the siting of History and Amendment inhibit for the siting of the situation of the situatio cond Amendment rights for the citizens of Illinois and our members is greatly appreciated."

When asked about Steve Davis, the N.R.A. representative stated that Davis' failure to return their questionnaire indicates indifference or outright opposition to gun owners and gun owner issues.

PUNCH #111 DISTRICT 111

Ted Signs No-Tax Pledge; Davis Refuses

At a recent debate held in Granite City, Ted promised to vote against any tax increases during his first term as State Representative by signing a pledge and asking Steve Davis to do the same. Davis refused, calling the pledge irresponsible by not raising taxes to fund educa-tion.

Davis' refusal came just moments after Davis himself said that he was agianst any kind of tax increase.

The challenge, refusal, and response indicate Davis' eagerness to solve problems by throwing money at them, with anything less deemed "irresponsible." Ted called for across-the-board cuts in inefficient departments to elp fund education, but wants reform before more tax help fund education, but wants reform before more tax dollars are wasted.

Ted challenged Davis to sign the pledge because, while Davis claims he is for the "the working man," working residents of District 111 don't want their taxes raised, their guns taken away, or the taxes they do pay wasted. They want to take back control of their government, and Ted provides an extraordinary opportunity to do so.

On the tax issue, the candidates couldn't disagree more. Davis will vote to raise taxes to solve our problems. Ted won't raise taxes and will fight for fiscal responsibility in Springfield.

Notes from Ted

Hello. I want to thank everyone who is taking the time to read this newsletter. I am limited with the monetary resources to send multiple mailings. So, I hope this newsletter will give you some much needed information to help you decide who you want as your next legislator from the 111th district.

I am not a boastful person. However, I feel that it is necessary that you know my record of service to this community. As much as one eight-hour day of my time per week is dedicated to helping this area become a better place to live, work, and raise a family.

Through my efforts on the South Western Illinois Development Authority (SWIDA), I have assisted in securing the financing for projects like Laclede Steel and Clark Refineries to make those plants environmentally safe and to retool and make the facilities more competitive, saving a significant number of jobs in the distribution.

facilities more competitive, saving a significant number of foos in this district.

I was also instrumental in bringing such projects as Robinson Steel to our area, and I am currently working with numerous companies who have a sincere interest in the Wood River Envirotech Business Park. We hope to announce, in the near future, a new manufacturer for that facility that will generate over one hundred new jobs in district 111.

I am currently leading an effort, through Gov. Edgar's office, to assist in the financing to retool Spectrulite Consortium that will save approximately 371 steelworkers' jobs. These kinds of efforts in maintaining and creating real permanent jobs give methe experience necessary to go to Springfield and fight to make this district the industrial giant it once was.

I also take much pride in my work as a Cub Master and Sunday School teacher, helping to baild strong morally sound, young people for the future leadership of our district.

I believe that when our forefathers created this great country, they expected public servants to be just that servants. However, we have created "monsters" that feed off the tax-payers and take care of only a select few.

However, we have created "monsters" that Jeed of the telepayers and take care of only a select few.

I can't tell you that I have all the answers or that I can change everything single-handedly. What I will promise you is that I will consider all sides of the issues before me and make an educated decision for the betterment of District 111 with out the shackles of special interest groups.

You, the voter, have a decision to make, and I hope you really consider me and what I can offer this district. I need your vote. Thanks for taking the time to become a more informed voter. Respectfully,

Theodore "Ted" Prehn Candidate, Illinois House of Representatives

THE TRUTH COMES OUT: Ted Prehn and Steve Davis on the Issues

Ted Prehn

Ted has experience bringing and keeping jobs in this area. Helping on projects like Eastgate Plaza, Wilshire Shopping Center, Crossroads Professional Park, Laclede Steel, Clark Oil, Shell Oil, Robinson St., It Elizabeth's Hospital, and Spectrulite Consorium that brought or saved hundreds of jobs, Ted has proven that he knows how to help this district grow its economy and keep its residents working.

Ted has signed a pledge not to raise taxes. He believes that the revenues of the state need to be spent more responsibly before the taxpayers are shouldered with an even heavier burden.

TRUTH IN SENTENCING

Ted believes that criminals shoulds be made to serve their entire sentences. When they go into the pen, they should stay in the pen. Anything less is side-stepping the problem.

Ted believes that gun-owners should not be punished for the behavior of common criminals. Banning guns is simply attacking the constitutional rights of law-abiding citizens, and will do nothing to stop those that make a habit out of breaking already existing laws.

Ted has proven his commitment to his community by serving on numerous volunteer boards along with Cub Scouts and a petition drive to keep the driver's license facility in Bethalto.

Ted believes that before we throw more money at education we should make sure that there is some accountability. The state spends 55,800 per student in East St. Louis and an average of $4,000 here in District 111. Are the students in East St. Louis receiving a better education? There needs to be in District 111. Are the students in East St. Louis receiving a better education? There needs to be in District 111. Are the students in East St. Louis receiving a better education? There needs to reform to accompany funding to avoid waste that adds unnecessary expenses to those the taxpayers reform to accompany funding to avoid waste that adds unnecessary expenses to those the taxpayers reform to accompany funding to avoid waste that adds unnecessary expenses to those the taxpayers.

d give the power back to the people, instead of helping the Ted thinks that we need to stop welfare as a way of life. Reform is needed to allow able adults to work, but not be penalized for improving their lives through marriage, work, etc. as soon as they start.

Ted sincerely wants to give the government back to the people, and he believes that the first step is term limits on elected officials. Effective legislators can continue to serve the people in other offices, while career politicians with nothing in mind but liming their pockets will find it harder to win reelection.

INTEGRITYCAMPAIGN FUNDS

Ted has worked his way up from a truck driver and Teamster to a successful real estate developer.

He has no out-of-district campaign debts, from Chicago or anywhere else, to repay, and he will be able to vote his conscience in Springthed and do what is best for the residents of District 111.

Ted believes that although the state legislature cannot overturn Roe V. Wade, taxpayers should not be expected to fund abortions and those under age 18 should have parental consent before the procedure is performed – just like what is currently required by law to have eac plercing done.

Steve Davis

Mr Davis has worked as the Wood River Township Highway Commissioner, responsible for the maintenance of forty miles of roads. He claims that he is "...for the working man...," but has had no experience at all bringing or keeping jobs in the area. And, as highway commissioner, Davis has wasted hundreds of taxpayer dollars on newspaper ads that were no more than self-promoting political advertisements.

Davis says that he is against raising taxes, but he refused to sign a tax pledge. He also has given no solutions to saving money -- only redistributing and spending more with out calling for any reform.

First Davis said that getting tough on crimminals means making them serve only 85%. of their sentences. Now he says, "No parole. No early release. No deals." It is unclear which he really believes.

Davis says that we need no more gun laws. However, he recently praised the passage of the crime bill and failed to return the questionnaire sent out by the National Rifle Association.

Davis believes that volunteer work does not count as public service. He thinks that you have to receive a check from the taxpayers to be a public servant.

Davis thinks that, to fix education, more money is the solution. He claims he wants to "equalize" education funding to see to it that we get our fair share. Yet he has taken sizeable political contributions from out-of-sistrict special interests such as Chicago Teacher Union with over $20,000 coming from Chicago and Springfield alone.

Davis has plans for creating at least three new programs that will all require a large bureaucracy. He claims that this is "reforming" state government.

Davis also believes in welfare reform. However, although he claims to want to cut programs in public aid, he thinks that the state needs to provide healthcare, childcare, and transportation for welfare recipients.

Dayis is against term limits for elected officials, and he continuously praises a legislator who will write himself a check for $400,000 from his campaign fund when he retires.

Davis has been on the tax payers' payroll for 13½ years and has abused his position on more than one occasion. He also claims he wants to represent all of District 111. However, he has received over $50,000 from PACs and special interests outside of district 111, all donations that were not given with out some influence expected in Springfield.

Davis has indicated, in a questionnaire returned to Planned Parenthood, that he favors a national healthcare plan that would include taxpayer-funded abortions.

Doctor: health care, suit reforms needed

Staff writer

There is a story about a health insurance administrator who dies and appears at the gates to Heaven seeking admittance.

"We will admit you, but you can only stay three days," St. Peter tells the administration till litustrates as serious and very real problem in the health care industry today; physicians and their patients are having less say in the quality of care provided.

their patients are having less say in the quality of care provided.

Physician patient empowerment and lawsuit reform are the two issues that are key to mean the two issues that are key to mean the patients of the patients of the lilinois State Medical Society.

But "political posturing makes meaningful health care reform unlikely before 1986.

Roman was the guest speaker at the Madison Country Medical Society's Nov. 1 meeting at the Sunset Hills Country Clark.

Thysician is of paramount importance when it comes to the basic issues of access and cost. Medical care costs too much and not everyone in Illinois has access. Koman said in the health care debate concerns who will decide the care a patient will receive. Illinoisans want their doctors — not insurance companies — to, set the swant their doctors — not insurance companies — to, set the swant their doctors — not insurance companies — to, set the swant their doctors — not insurance companies — to, set the swant their doctors — not insurance companies — to, set the swant their doctors — not insurance companies — to, set the swant their doctors — not insurance companies — to, set the swant their doctors — not insurance companies — to, set the swant their doctors — not insurance companies — to, set the swant their doctors — not insurance companies — to, set the swant their doctors — not insurance companies — to, set the swant their doctors — not insurance companies — to, set the swant their doctors — not insurance the swant their doctors — the swant the Roman said, the spiraling cost of health care and the decreasing access to care is also linked to increasing number of the control of the control of the care costs are so high is the increasing number of lawsuits against physicians and the correspondingly severe penalties being imposed," Roman said.

He said that the number of lawsuits against physicians has increased about 12 percent per year. And while the majority of them are found to be frivious and decided in favor of the physician, the increase in light on has resulted in increase of the physician, the increase of the physician of the

"In some cases the patient volume is no longer sufficient — especially for those performing high risk procedures — to pay malpractice insurance premiums," Roman said.
The other key selfwould be a proposed $250,000 "pain and suffering" awards in medical malpractice cases, he, said.

He said such a limit would end the "lottery mentality" driving the lawsuits and would also reduce the need for "defensive medicine" — tests and proce-dures physicians order to assure a strong defense if the patient sucs.

"But reform is very likely dead this year. It is highly unlikely reform will occur in a lame duck session. And with a likely swing in the Republican favor in next week's elections, it is unlikely any meaningful reform will take place until 1990 because of political posturing." Roman said. Roman promised the political posturing the political posturing the political posturing the political posturing.

Roman said.

Nonetheless, Roman promised that physicians will redouble their efforts on the national and state levels to seek reforms that would make health care more affordable and accessible.

CURT SMITH SPORTING GOODS

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

For the past seventy years I have proudly served the Granite City School District. In those seventy years some of the finest students in the country have passed through my doors. I have provided you and your children with many fond memories of your high school years. Now as I enter the twilight years of my life I must call on all of you for help

In preparing me for future generations.

At my age I find myself in need of a great deal of work. My roof leaks, my windows will not stay open without some support nor are they very energy efficient. My wiring has not aged very gracefully and needs to be updated to support modern technology. In addition I would like to see my insides renovated to make better use of existing has not aged very gracefully and needs to be updated to support modern technology. In addition I would like to see my insides renovated to make better use of existing classroom space as well as to provide easier access for handicapped students and visitors. I would also like to add some new classrooms so my students will not have to share space at Coolidge Jr. High School.

On November 8th you will be asked to support a bond issue that will provide funds to make these changes. With these badly needed changes I will be able to serve future generations of the Granite City School District with pride and dignity as I have those in the past.

Supporting this bond issue will allow Granite City School District to make needed improvements WITHOUT INCREASING YOUR TAXES

Say'yes' to all referendums at the polls Tuesday

TO THE EDITOR.

To THE EDITOR.

To my writing this letter to encourage citizens to participate in the election process by going to the polls Nov. 8 and exercising their voing rights. I am thoroughly convinced that all that is necessary for an unscrupulous person to escalate to a position of leadership and ower is for the good people to do nothing. I would encourage the voters to carefully consider each candidate presented and to choose the control of t members. The voters of Madison County have no voice or choice as to who is placed in the very important position of county chairman. I believe electing the county chairman at large will benefit the county and citizens. It would make the county chairman accountable, responsible and responsive to the needs of all the county and its citizens. I do not believe that we, as taxpayers, can afford to continue doing business as usual. It is time for a change in the Madison County political system.

Currently, there is far too much nepotism, bickering and flexing of the comments and arguments of those opposed and those in favor of this proposition.

Jack Frandsen, a Democrat, a longtime county board member has said, if it ain't broke, don't fix it. It makes me wonder if he would also be opposed to preventive maintenance. I have a tendency to believe that if we fail to change the system, we may all be broke—

Homer Henke, a Republican and also a county board member, has former Henke, a Republican and also a county board member, has county chairman. According to county payroll records, it appears henke has a number of relatives employed by the county. Therefore,
I can understand his concern and opposition to changing our present system. Il could indeed have an economical impact not only on Henke, but other elected officials whose seemingly primary concern is the employment of their family and friends.

Thus far, the arguments of those elected officials who are openly opposing change assent every shallow and seemingly self-serving.

Our neighboring county seems to be enjoying growth in population and industry, while Madison County is at a standstill. It is interesting to note that St. Clair County elects their county chairman at large. If would urge the voters of Madison County to vote "yes" concerning this issue.

Diabetes Support Group helps families cope

When Robert Bono, a diabetic, and don't feel they want to was told by his physician he would have to ear certain portions of food each day, he did not know how to measure it. So he took his question to a group of peers — the Diabetes Support Group at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

When Robert Bono, a diabetic, and don't feel they want to attend a mymore, it's OK. Many to attend a mymore, it's OK. Many to attend a mymore, it's OK. "We feel kind of bad that Hollywood has poked fun at this amazing man. He was ahead of his time," Bonnie Duffy, interim director of the Historical Society of Battle Creek.

Battle Creek had to Well-ville' opened in Battle Creek.

Battle Creek resident Ted Lowe, 68, agreed the movie didn't show Kellogg in the best light.

"was little bit more drastic after the sold-out showing.

"They definitely made him out to be crazier than he was," said Tammy Oswalt of Battle Creek.

The movie, starring Anthony Hopkins, opens nationwide Friday.
